

Words of Pen

The Most Powerful Weapon

By: Kinfe Abraha (PhD) e-mail: kinfeab@yahoo.com

In the process of a peaceful struggle

For the freedom and democratization of the nation and the people

Different groups of people use various tools

That they believe can lead them to what they call 'success'

Some use guns with a bullet

To kill people without any regret

Yes, these people use force

As a clear indication of their ignorance

Some others, of course, the majority

Believe in election ballots to serve humanity

These are the people that struggle for the real Democracy

To transform and then enhance the existing bureaucracy

Winners are those that are big thinkers

Who believe in convincing people, not in dictating others

They believe and really believe that they can

Being sure that, at the end of the day, truth will always win

Such leaders have many followers

Rational and reasonable people who can distinguish thorny bushes from flowers

I am one of those

Who believe and really believe in success

Yes, I am one of those who define success from our own perspective and from our own wisdom

Which of course, to me is, and it means a real freedom

As a result, I don't blow with the wind, because I have a strong belief

Which is deep rooted and am convinced from my inner-self

Defeated are those

Who cannot have a power to convince others

Such people have no confidence and have no belief

And have decided to sword innocent people with a knife

Such a group of people have no harmony among themselves

And, as a result they don't have any trust on others

But, intellectuals are those with an honest opinion

That have a strong belief; that the words of a pen

Are the best of all, and the most powerful weapon