

Eritrea: A nation under stress

Figure 1 Eritrean conscripts at Sawa military camp

If you carefully look at the picture above, you will indeed say that a picture is worth a thousand words. Every conscript's face that can be seen here at Sawa (Eritrea's camp for indoctrination and military service) is gloomy, pessimistic and desperate. A young nation going down to the drain! One wonders if those who sacrificed their life in the long struggle to independence ever saw Eritrea turning this way?

For more info on the current batch of conscripts with detailed ethnic makeup and psychological assessment that supports the above comment check Sallina.com article that details a certain military head letter to PIA in regard to sawa

(Picture and comment forwarded by our reader with some edit)

Feb 06,2009